Problem

Great builders spend whatever time they have left just trying to get a meal in. How can we expect them to be founders if they're still coding, not founding?

The solution: A guided conversation that helps builders discover their pitch over time.

Traction

- May 18, 2026
App launched. tinker is live.
- Today, May 28, 2026
First paid user — the founder.
- Christmas 2026
Target: 20 paid makers via Instagram.
- May 2027 (Month 12)
Target: 4,000 paid developers (~$432,000 yearly revenue).

Market

$2.9 billion a year

27 million developers × $9 a month.

The ceiling: every developer on earth at the entry tier.

Ask

$500,000 → 12 months. Closing now — savings run out at the end of May.

$168,000 — founder salary (12 months).

$56,000 — go-to-market (Instagram ads + monthly community events).

$90,000 — running costs (legal, Anthropic API, San Francisco trips, office and dev stack).

$186,000 — reserves (extends runway to ~18 months at current burn).

Line in the sand: savings run out end of May 2026. If the round doesn't close, I step away.

Thank you
